

Program Fact Sheet

The mission of the AMBER Alert Training and Technical Assistance Program (AATTAP) is to safely recover missing, endangered, or abducted children through the coordinated efforts of law enforcement, media, transportation, and other partners by using training and technology to enhance response capacities and capabilities and increase public participation. As of December 23, 2016, 857 abducted children have been recovered as a result of the AMBER Alert Program.

About the National AMBER Alert Network

- AATTAP supports training, information sharing and community of practice collaborations with over 300 AMBER Alert state, local, regional, Tribal, Mexican and Canadian Coordinators, Clearinghouse Managers, CART Coordinators and law enforcement representatives
- The AMBER Advocate newsletter reaches more than 50,000 child protection professionals four times each year through both print and web-based reading options
- Regional and Tribal AMBER Alert Liaisons work with designated geographical regions including all states, the District of Columbia, U.S. Territories, Tribal communities, Canada, and Mexico to provide technical assistance, training, and policy development

The Reach of AMBER Alert Training Programs (October 2013 – January 2017)

- 256 training sessions have been delivered, reaching every state in the U.S. and numerous Tribal communities, Canada and Mexico; representatives from Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Bahamas, Guam, Greece, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands, France, Portugal and Belgium have attended training sessions as well
- Across all onsite training and technical assistance events, over 22,500 participants have received more than 402,880 hours of training, with 98% providing “good” or “excellent” overall evaluation ratings
- An additional 23,000 participants have completed training through online learning, with over 94,000 hours of online training delivered, resulting in 98% of users providing “good” or “excellent” overall ratings
- Over 20 webinars have been conducted for national audiences of topics ranging from child abduction dynamics to managing sex offenders within the community
- Over 25 classroom courses and six eLearning courses are available; and offer more than 180 modules of instruction for customized training development through our ‘Build a Course’ option
- Ten national roundtable meetings have been conducted with parents and siblings of missing and abducted children to determine response issues and help improve services to families, investigations and prosecution
- Two national roundtable meetings have been conducted with survivors of child sex trafficking to help inform the training and development of first responders, service providers and court personnel dealing with cases involving the trafficking and exploitation of minors

The Child Abduction Response Team (CART) Network

- The National CART Initiative began in 2006
- CART training programs from January 2006 - December 2016, have reached 4,895 team members representing 48 US states/territories, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Bahamas, and Canada
- As of January 2016, there are 333 active teams representing 48 US states and territories; and two international teams
- Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California and their Mexican counterparts are working toward joint AMBER Alert Plans and CART Programs to serve and protect border communities

The CART Certification Program

- To establish a verification of response capability, a CART Certification process was established in 2007; CART programs throughout the United States continue to seek CART Certification
- There are 21 CART programs currently certified which have successfully met all 47 standards and have completed a required mock child abduction exercise; a complete listing of certified CART programs can be found at <https://tinyurl.com/AMBERCertifiedCARTs>

The AMBER Alert in Indian Country Initiative

- The initiative began in 2007 to establish and expand the child recovery practices, capacity, and resources in Tribal communities
- Over 100 Tribal communities have partnered with their State or Regional AMBER Alert plans
- Over 1,500 Tribal officials and community members have attended training or participated in technical assistance programs
- Successful child recoveries involving AMBER Alerts or CART activations in Tribal communities
- Two national symposiums on Tribal child protection have been conducted, bringing together community leaders, child protection officials, state, local and federal partners to address issues related to the protection of children in Tribal communities
- Over 200 community child protection capabilities assessments have been conducted
- The Tribal Database website (www.tribaldatabase.org) and secure database resource have been developed to provide a platform for the exchange of information, collection of data and resources for tribal communities related to missing endangered, abducted and exploited children in Indian Country
- The AMBER Alert in Indian Country initiative has developed tribal instructors, supported the Indian Country Intelligence Network, trained search trackers for the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC), provided bloodhound donations to the tribes, administered Cold Case reviews, and conducted infrastructure assessments

The Southern Border Initiative

- AATTAP has worked closely with the US Embassy, Mexico City, the US DOJ Office of Overseas Prosecutorial Development, Assistance and Training (OPDAT), Procurador General de la República of Mexico (PGR), and state AMBER Alert Coordinators to develop protocols to create Protocolo Alerta AMBER, a federally administered comprehensive child recovery program which is consistent with programs in the U.S. and Canada
- AATTAP has trained over 600 state, local and federal child protection officials in the U.S. and Mexico and has conducted joint training programs and table top exercises involving U.S. and Mexican officials working together to address issues related to cross border abductions, trafficking and exploitation
- Since 2016, AATTAP has participated in six regional meetings in the U.S. and Mexico, including a tri-national AMBER Alert conference
- Alerta AMBER Mexico, the Country's national AMBER Alert initiative, was implemented May 2, 2012; as of December 31, 2016, Alerta AMBER Mexico has issued 737 alerts nationwide, resulting in the safe recovery of 496 children

Program Evaluation Results: Making an Impact

- Past TTA evaluations have been exemplary; with more than 90% of respondents reporting they found AATTAP courses productive and satisfying, gained new insights and information and intended to change or improve both personal approach to their work and advocate for or effect changes and improvement to agency plans, policies and/or procedures.
- FY16 program evaluation results from four of AATTAP's most attended courses offer an example of how training has been received:
